SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Opelousas, La.
JOHN G. WOOLLEY, LL. D.
Orator, Author, Reformer
Subject: "When Good Men and Women Rule the World."
Monday, March 14, at 7:30 p. m.

HON. JOHN G. WOOLLEY

National Speaker, Anti-Saloon League America

The Hon. John G. Woolley is one of the colossal figures of the Temperance Reform. For more than a score of years, he has gone up and down the land like a consuming flame, calling upon the church to throw off its indifference and make war to the death on the legalized saloon.

For more than a quarter of a century continuously employed in opening the eyes of the nation to the curse of the drink traffic and the final achievement of national prohibition by constitutional amendment will be a triumph for no single individual more than John G. Woolley.

Probably no man has been a bigger factor in arousing the civic conscience of the nation, and in preparing public sentiment for the remarkable progress toward national prohibition during the past few years.

At the great convention at Columbus, Ohio, in November, 1913, which launched the campaign for national constitutional prohibition, John G. Woolley made the keynote speech on the theme, "The Call of an Epoch," and stirred that great throng with the wildest enthusiasm.

Again at Washington, D. C., on December 10, of the same year, when the committee of 2,000 assembled to petition congress for the speedy submission to the states of the Sheppard-Hobson amendment, he was one of the most striking figures and at the great mass meeting in Continental Hall, moved the audience to a frenzy of applause by his flights of oratory.

At the national anti-saloon league convention at Atlantic City, in 1915. Woolley again of all the great speakers of national renown, leading in the prohibition movement, was chosen to deliver the keynote address. It was a marvel of oratory. For more than an hour he held the vast audience under the spell of his impassioned eloquence.

HEALTH BOARD HEAD PRAISE LOCAL DAIRY

DR. DOWLING SAYS SOME GOOD THINGS ABOUT SANDERS & SMILEY'S INSTITUTION

Opelousas dairies have always supplied good milk to their patrons. This section has been raising fine milk cattle for years, being one of the pioneer sections of the state in the development of better cattle for dairying purposes.

The dairy of Sanders & Smiley, located near the city limits, is fast forging to the front and the following letter from Dr. Oscar Dowling, famous head of the state health board, certainly speaks a good word for the dairy mentioned:

New Orleans, La., Feb. 19, 1921.
J. M. Sanders, Opelousas, La.

Dear Mr. Sanders: I am writing this to you personally because of our acquaintance and experience in the legislature. I have always found you helpful, with special reference to dairying and the promotion of public health.

It has been a pleasure to look over the score card of Sanders & Smiley's National Dairy, at Opelousas, and it is gratifying to find the total score 78. I find it would be a very easy matter for you to increase the score. Under "Health of Cows" you could add five points by having your herd tuberculin tested, with negative results. I am sure Dr. R. W. Tuck, local inspector in charge, United States bureau of animal industry, would be glad to make an inspection of your herd if it is desired. There also other slight improvements that could be made without additional cost.

The fact that you have built a good barn and milk room and are endeavoring to operate your dairy in accordance with the requirements of the sanitary code is the best evidence we could have of your desire to raise the standard, and I sincerely trust others in your vicinity will follow your example. A parish co-operative dairy association would, I think, be productive of good results, and I would suggest that you use your best efforts toward the organization of such an association.

The state board of health is always ready to assist in any movement for higher health standards, and if there is any way in which we can help you do not hesitate to call on us.

Very truly yours,
OSCAR DOWLING,
President.
